

Patient Simulation and Roleplay

Dead Earnest are highly experienced in supplying actors for medical roleplay and patient simulation. In every year we employ around 100 actors on the projects we deliver. Not only does this give us a huge pool of local actors to draw on, but it also allows us to build relationships of trust with the actors we use.

All of the actors that we supply have received training and are committed to delivering authentic performances that help in the selection and professional development of medical professionals.

Roleplay

As well as patient simulation our actors are also capable of using roleplay and hotseating techniques in areas as broad ranging as speaking and listening skills, mentoring and customer service.
